Iran Between Two Revolutions Princeton

Iran Between Two Revolutions is a landmark study. In it, Ervand Abrahamian provides a well-researched and well-argued account of Iran's history from the nineteenth-century to the fall of the Shah in 1979. The nineteenth-century marked a shift in Iran's history in which the country would end a period of relative isolation.

Eric Hooglund In: 113 (March/April 1983) Ervand Abrahamian, Iran Between Two Revolutions (Princeton, NJ: Princeton University Press, 1982). A major lesson of the Iranian revolution was how poorly students of the Middle East understood the social and political forces there. This was a country which had been the object of more official and academic study than perhaps any other state in the region except Israel.
